EUROPEAN FEDERATION OF FOOD BANKS

2017

the paradox

88 million tons of food is wasted every year in Europe (European Commission, 2016).

At the same time, 43 million people cannot afford a quality meal every second day (Eurostat, 2016).

our vision

For each person in Europe to have access to sufficient and nutritious food while no surplus food is wasted.

The impact of foodbanks

In 2016, FEBA foodbanks:

provided food to 6,1 million people

equivalent to 2,9 million
meals each day through 37,200

charities

our values

90% of which are volunteers

European Union, producers, retailers, individuals...

Food banks

A unique solution which:

- Provides food and solidarity to the most deprived, often a first step towards social inclusion
- Contributes to reducing food waste by redistributing large quantities of edible surplus
- Generates savings for partner charities freeing up funds that they can use to invest in their core missions
- Enables food companies to reduce their losses and minimize their disposal costs
- Strengthens social cohesion by calling for volunteers and building partnerships between public, private and non-profit bodies
- Turns each euro spent into distributed food which has a net worth of between €8 to €20
